Brief Course Description

This course introduces students to criminology and criminal justice. It begins with an examination of the nature of crime, and the ways in which it is defined and explained in contemporary society. A major emphasis of the course is exploring the dimensions of crime, particularly the relationship between crime and social class (corporation and white collar crime), the links between youth and crime and youth and the criminal justice response, the relationship between gender and crime, and the reasons for the huge over-representation of indigenous people in all parts of the criminal justice system in Australia. The course also surveys the ways in which crime and criminal behaviour are "explained" via a review of the contemporary literature in criminology theory. The course concludes with an exploration of the criminal justice system as a response to crime.

Rationale

Welcome to the study of crime and justice. This unit is a core course in the foundation year in Criminology and Criminal Justice, and leads on to the second and third year courses, particularly the second year courses, Sociology of Crime and Psychology of Crime, which are devoted to theoretical explanations of crime and criminality. A major emphasis of the course is on exploring the dimensions of crime and the way crime is shaped by a range of personal and social characteristics. We explore the relationship between crime and social class (including corporate and white collar crime), the links between youth and crime, the relationship between gender and crime, and the reasons for the huge over-representation of indigenous people in all parts of the criminal justice system in Australia.

The course then moves to the responses of the criminal justice system, which has traditionally been seen as a combination of three quite different components: the police, criminal courts, and the correctional arms of the system. However, there are newer features of the system that must be considered, such as the standing justice commissions (eg., the Queensland Crime and Corruption Commission), the growth of the private sector (private prisons, the security industry), and the development of alternative models of criminal justice and dispute resolution.

The fact that Australia is a liberal-democratic society also determines many of the tasks, possibilities, and limitations of the system, as well as determining tensions and uncertainties confronting criminal justice. The course focuses on two key standards - justice and effectiveness - and how the system attempts to balance these aims.

Aims

This course has been designed with the aim of expanding your knowledge about the nature of crime, who commits it, how crime can be explained, and how we respond to crime. The course is deliberately designed to challenge stereotypes about crime and justice, and to make you think seriously about why our society spends so much time and money responding to and attempting to prevent crime. The criminal justice system is one major response and in the second half of the course we identify, examine and evaluate the policies and structures of the criminal justice system. The three main components of the system – investigative, adjudicative and corrections – are examined in terms of fairness, justice and effectiveness.

Learning Outcomes

After successfully completing this course you should be able to:

- 1 Explain how crime is defined, measured and explained
 - 2 Locate criminology specific research
 - 3 Discuss some of the important personal and professional qualities required of those who wish to work in the criminal justice area and emerging careers in the field.
 - 4 Differentiate between the theoretical psychological and sociological explanations of crime and criminality

Texts and Supporting Materials

Lecture notes, notices and other issues relating to the course will be made available through the portal.

Recommended Textbook & Resources:

Hayes, Hennessey and Tim Prenzler 2015. An Introduction to Crime and Criminology, 4ed. Pearson Australia.

Organisation and Teaching Strategies

Each week, you are required to attend 4 hours of contact time in class consisting of lectures, and tutorials. To achieve the course objectives, a lecture complemented by the required text will deliver the primary course content. The lecture will develop your understanding of the topics covered within the course. The tutorials are oriented towards solving problems that are related to concepts and issues that have been introduced in lectures and the required reading. The tutorial will also provide you with the opportunity to ask any unresolved questions and develop a solid foundation for understanding the lecture, textbook and other material.

Class Contact Summary

Attendance:

Your attendance in class will be marked twice during a four hour class. To receive full attendance, you must be present in the classroom on both occasions.

Program Progression:

You are reminded that satisfactory Program Progression requires that attendance in classes is maintained at equal to or greater than 80%, and that GPA is maintained at equal to or greater than 3.5 [please see Griffith College Policy Library - Program Progression Policy - for more information].

Lecture Notes & Course Materials:

You are required to bring a copy of the lecture notes printed from the Griffith College website and any other required course materials to classes each week.

Independent Study:

You are expected to reinforce your learning gained during class time by undertaking sufficient independent study. For this 10 CP course, you will need to spend at least 10 hours per week engaged in activities that will help your learning and fulfil the course objectives. Thus, provided you have well used the 4 hours per week of formal contact, you would then complete at least 6 hours per week of independent study.

Assessment

This section sets out the assessment requirements for this course.

Summary of Assessment

Item	Assessment Task	Weighting	Relevant Learning Outcomes	Due Date
1	Career Information Assignment	30%	1,2,3	Weeks 3-9
2	Take Home Exam	30%	1,2,4	Week 7
3	Final Exam	40%	1,3,4	Exam Period

Assessment Details

Career Information Assignment

Due Date: Varies from Week 3-9, depending on which week they choose to present their Information during tutorial.

Weight: 30%

Task Description: Students will choose a potential career in the field of criminology, criminal justice, or law and perform some research on what the particular job entails.

Students will need to present information in 2 ways:

- 1: On an A3 size poster in a style of their choosing. This may include photos, graphics, text, etc.
- 2: During tutorial, students will give a 5-10 minute presentation describing their chosen career to the class

Criteria: In this presentation, you must

1. Describe what the role of this person is in the context of the larger criminal justice system.
2. Explain the skills necessary for a person in this position to be successful in the position
3. Construct a visual representation of your research on an A3 poster

Further detail on what to include will be provided to students during the first week in tutorial.

Take Home Exam

Due Date: Week 7

Weight: 30%

Length: 1500 Words

Task Description:

Short answer/essay questions covering material presented in weeks 1-6. Students will write an approximate 750-word response for 2 of 3 questions. Students will receive the questions and instructions for completion in Week 6, with the assessment due in Week 7.

Exam

Due Date: Final exam period

Weight: 40%

Duration: 2hrs

Task Description:

The final exam for this class will consist of multiple choice questions and short answer/essay questions based around key themes in the course. This exam will be comprehensive, including all topics covered in lecture and tutorials, including the required readings provided for students.

Submission and Return of Assessment Items

End of Trimester Exam will be held during the final exam period, and results posted to the Griffith College portal in the week following exam week.

Retention of Originals

You must be able to produce a copy of all work submitted if so requested. Copies should be retained until after the release of final results for the course.

Extensions

To apply for an extension of time for an assessment item you must submit a written request to your lecturer via the Student Website at least 48 hours before the date the assessment item is due. Grounds for extensions are usually: serious illness, accident, disability, bereavement or other compassionate circumstances and must be able to be substantiated with relevant documentation [e.g. medical certificate]. Please refer to the Griffith College website - Policy Library - for guidelines regarding extensions and deferred assessment.

Penalties for late submission without an approved extension

Penalties apply to assignments that are submitted after the due date without an approved extension. Assessment submitted after the due date will be penalised 10% of the TOTAL marks available for assessment (not the mark awarded) for each day the assessment is late. Assessment submitted more than five days late will be awarded a mark of zero (0) For example:

- > 5 minutes and <= 24 hours 10%
- > 24 hours and <= 48 hours 20%
- > 48 hours and <= 72 hours 30%
- > 72 hours and <= 96 hours 40%
- > 96 hours and <= 120 hours 50%
- > 120 hours 100%

Note:

- Two day weekends will count as one day in the calculation of a penalty for late submission.
- When a public holiday falls immediately before or after a weekend, the three days will count as one day in the calculation of a penalty for late submission.
- When two public holidays (e.g. Easter), fall immediately before or after, or one day either side of a weekend, the four days will count as two days in calculating the penalty for late submission.
- When a single public holiday falls mid-week, the day will not be counted towards the calculation of a penalty.

Please refer to the Griffith College website - Policy Library > Assessment Policy for guidelines and penalties for late submission.

Assessment Feedback

Marks awarded for assessment items will also be available on the on-line grades system on the Student Website within fourteen [14] days of the due date.
