Prerequisites

There are no prerequisites for this course

Brief Course Description

This course will introduce students to the basic skills, practices and knowledge that inform journalism. Students will gather and write news stories. The course provides students with the opportunity to consider what it means to be a journalist, the role and the future of journalism. Incompatible: 1503HUM News and Politics

This course is for students who wish to undertake the journalism degree or journalism majors that reside in other programs. It teaches students how to write in a journalistic style and to engage with debates and discussions relevant to journalism and journalists in Australia and more broadly. Students will be expected to have a thorough knowledge of news events and current affairs. Content is provided through lectures and tutorials.

Rationale

Journalists in the news industry need the skills to write news stories. These skills include finding stories and new angles, researching, composing questions, interviewing and writing news. For students in the Bachelor of Journalism this is a core course. For students in the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Public Relations and Communication studying journalism it is also a core course. It is also taken as an elective by students studying in other areas. The course introduces you to basic news gathering and writing skills, skills in Twitter, which is the journalist's social media of choice, while engaging with debates and discussions that are relevant to journalism and journalists in Australia and more broadly. You will have the opportunity to put the knowledge gained in the course into practice when producing news story assignments and in a presentation.

Aims

This first-year course is compulsory for those students wishing to undertake the journalism degree or majors in journalism. The course teaches students how to write in a journalistic style, and how to critically think about current debates about journalism and journalists in Australia and more broadly. The course aims to develop students' interest in the news, and engage them in the Twitter-sphere so they keep abreast of current affairs. Course content is provided through lectures and tutorials, and attendance at all classes, while not assessable, is compulsory.

Learning Outcomes

After successfully completing this course you should be able to:

1. Apply principles of culture, history, politics, journalism and society to produce core elements of a news story
2. Use critical judgment when applying knowledge of the ethical and legal framework that underpins the profession
3. Analyse and evaluate information to support an argument
4. Work collaboratively to compare and critique professional characteristics of journalists
5. Apply knowledge of diverse, cultural groups when communicating to a range of audiences

Organisation and Teaching Strategies

Class Contact Summary

Attendance

100% attendance is expected for all classes. You are reminded that your attendance in class will be marked for all elements. To receive full attendance, you must be present in the classroom on all occasions.

You are expected to bring work done at home to class for group and individual discussion. Further development of ideas is expected during tutorial time.

Preparation and Participation in Class

You are expected to read your text book and the lecture notes plus attempt any tutorial/workshop exercises before class so that each week you can actively contribute to your learning and the learning of others in your classes. You are expected to ask and answer questions and to initiate discussions and stimulate debate in group and class situations.

Consultant Times

Attendance during consultation times is optional but you are encouraged to use this extra help to improve your learning outcomes.

Course Materials

Lecture notes will be made available to you on the portal website prior to each lecture and you are advised to print these out and bring them to each class so that extra notes can be added.

Independent Study

Independent study requires that you spend time outside classes engaged in research necessary to complete your assignments. Research includes reading the required text books, using library and internet facilities. For this 10 CP course, you will need to spend at least 10 hours per week engaged in activities that will help your learning and fulfil the course objectives. Thus, provided you have well used the formal contact hours each week, you would then complete any remaining hours engaged in independent study.

Program Progression

You are reminded that satisfactory Program Progression requires that attendance in classes is maintained at equal to or greater than 80%, and that GPA is maintained at equal to or greater than 3.5 in any trimester [please see Griffith College Policy Library - Program Progression Policy - for more information].

Weight: 30%

Marked out of: 100

Task Description:

University news story: Write an original 300-400 word news story based on an event or issue occurring on your local campus. Apply the key principals of journalism ie the story must be sufficiently newsworthy and ethical to be reported in a local newspaper (refer to your news values), but your story must be original and not have been covered elsewhere. Write in news writing style with all the core elements of news writing covered in the course. Your assignment must include quotes from at least two original interviews and a source list with at least two sources and their contact details. You must have at least 2 sources who aren't students.

Criteria & Marking:

- News judgement
- Reporting practices
- Writing and editing skills
- Structuring skills
- Legally and ethically sound
- Accuracy
- Source selection
- Source list provided and accurate.

Submission: Students must submit via Turnitin.

This assessment item:

- is an individual activity
- includes a self assessment activity

Group presentation - Analyzing a journalist's career using journalism theory

Type: Presentation - technical or professional

Learning Outcomes Assessed: 1, 2, 3, 4

Due Date: Week 9 to Week 12

Weight: 35%

Marked out of: 100

Task Description:

Students will work as a team on 20 minute presentation in groups of 3 in class, weeks 9-12. Students will choose or be allocated a high profile journalist or media personality and must prepare a comprehensively researched and argued presentation to critique whether this person is a quality journalist or not, by analyzing and evaluating aspects of the person's career in relation to journalism ethics and theory in the textbook and scholarly literature. Reference list including five scholarly references, which are cited in the presentation, must be handed to the tutor before the presentation along with a list of student participants' names and details of the role each undertook in preparing for and delivering the presentation.

Criteria & Marking:

Criteria will be distributed in class in Week 8, prior to the presentations

Submission: Submission: Delivered in class, Reference list and details of student participants' contributions to be submitted before presentation.

This assessment item:

Requirements to pass the course:

In order to pass this course students must:

1) achieve an aggregated score (sum of all assessments) of 50%.

Submission and Return of Assessment Items

All assessment is to be submitted at the date and time designated by your teacher. Normally you will be able to collect your assessment in class within fourteen [14] days of the due date for submission of the assessment.

Retention of Originals

Where practical, you must be able to produce a copy of all work submitted if so requested. Copies should be retained until after the release of final results for the course.

Please note: You may be required to submit assignments electronically to a collusion detection tool to allow the detection of possible instances of collusion/plagiarism. This will also involve Griffith College or its nominee storing your work on a secure database for use in testing assessment submitted by others in the future. For further information on Griffith College's Academic Integrity Policy refer to Griffith College's online Policy Library.

Extensions

To apply for an extension of time for an assignment, you must submit an Application for Extension of Assignment form to your teacher at least 24 hours before the date the assignment is due. Grounds for extensions are usually: serious illness, accident, disability, bereavement or other compassionate circumstances and must be able to be substantiated with relevant documentation [e.g. Griffith College Medical Certificate]. Please refer to the Griffith College website - Policy Library - for guidelines regarding extensions and deferred assessment.

Assessment Feedback

Your assessment will be marked so that you can learn from your work. Feedback will be provided so that you can see the level you have reached in any skill. Your tutor will give you comments on your work and will be happy to discuss your assessment further, if you wish. You may see your tutor in his/her consultation time.

Marks awarded for assessment items will also be available on the on the Griffith College Student Portal within fourteen [14] of the due date for submission of the assessment.

Additional Course Information

Your feedback is respected and valued by your lecturers and tutors. You are encouraged to provide your thoughts on the course and teaching, both positive and critical, directly to your lecturer and tutor or by completing course and lecturer evaluations on the Griffith College portal whenever these are available. Student feedback on their courses can be found by going to 'Student Feedback' under Support in the Griffith College Student Portal.

Academic Integrity

Griffith College is committed to maintaining high academic standards to protect the value of its qualifications. Academic integrity means acting with the values of honesty, trust, fairness, respect and responsibility in learning, teaching and research. It is important for students, teachers, researchers and all staff to act in an honest way, be responsible for their actions, and show fairness in every part of their work. Academic integrity is important for an individual's and the College's reputation.

All staff and students of the College are responsible for academic integrity. As a student, you are expected to conduct your studies honestly, ethically and in accordance with accepted standards of academic conduct. Any form of academic conduct that is contrary to these standards is considered a breach of academic integrity and is unacceptable.

Some students deliberately breach academic integrity standards with intent to deceive. This conscious, pre-meditated form of cheating is considered to be one of the most serious forms of fraudulent academic behaviour, for which the College has zero tolerance and for which penalties, including exclusion from the College, will be applied.

However, Griffith College also recognises many students breach academic integrity standards without intent to deceive. In these cases, students may be required to undertake additional educational activities to remediate their behaviour and may also be provided appropriate advice by academic staff.

As you undertake your studies at Griffith College, your lecturers, tutors and academic advisors will provide you with guidance to understand and maintain academic integrity; however, it is also your responsibility to seek out guidance if and when you are unsure about appropriate academic conduct.

In the case of a breach of academic integrity made against a student he or she may request the guidance and support of a Griffith College Student Learning Advisor or Student Counsellor.

Please ensure that you are familiar with the Griffith College Academic Integrity Policy; this policy provides an overview of some of the behaviours that are considered breaches of academic integrity, as well as the penalties and processes involved when a breach is identified.

For further information please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy on the Griffith College website – Policy Library.
